CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

1.1 First Level Subheading

Top, bottom, left, and right margins should be 1 inch. Text of the document may be double-spaced or one-and-one-half spaced, with the exception of long quotations, footnotes, and references, which may be single-spaced. The text in the body of the document should be consistent.

1.2 Second Level Subheading

Replace this placeholder text with your own content. This template uses `\section`, `\subsection`, and `\subsubsection` for the first-, second-, and third-level subheadings within a chapter; they will appear in the Table of Contents automatically.

1.2.1 An Example Subsection

You can cite sources with `\cite{}` once you have added entries to `myReference.bib`, for example [Doe and Smith, 2024].

CHAPTER 2

REVIEW OF LITERATURE

Replace this placeholder text with your literature review. Here is an example figure and how it appears both in the body text and in the List of Figures.

CHAPTER 3

METHODOLOGY

Replace this placeholder text with your methodology chapter. Below is an example table and how it appears both in the body text and in the List of Tables.

Table 3.1: Example table caption. This text must match word for word what appears in the List of Tables.

Item	Value A	Value B
Row 1	1.0	2.0
Row 2	3.0	4.0

Table 3.1 shows placeholder data; replace it with your own.

CHAPTER 4

FINDINGS

Replace this placeholder text with your results/findings chapter.

CHAPTER 5

DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSION

Replace this placeholder text with your discussion and conclusion.
